

Has your child been impacted by COVID-19?

- Excessive crying, irritation or being easily agitated
- Regression in behaviors (such as toileting accidents or bedwetting)
- Excessive worry or sadness
- Unhealthy eating or sleeping habits
- Difficulty with attention and concentration

Remote Therapy Services Available

Mental Health Services are offered in English and Spanish. Call today to make an appointment at (402) 553-6000.

In light of the current pandemic, Child Saving Institute (CSI) has shifted to telecommunications to deliver services virtually when face-to-face interaction is not feasible. YOU and your family can still continue to receive therapy services from CSI during this time!

Contact us today to schedule an appointment. We will discuss coverage options regardless of your current insurance coverage.

Telehealth services are offered via doxy.me, a free video chat conference platform that can be used on your smartphone, tablet or computer. Services can also be arranged over the phone, if desired.

To schedule an appointment, call (402) 553-6000 or email us at CSISReferrals@childsaving.org.

If your family is experiencing an emergency, please contact the Nebraska Family Helpline at (888) 866-8660 or call 911.

We can help. Here's how:

- ♥ CSI's licensed therapists specialize in child and family therapy to help strengthen family relationships.
- ♥ Our therapists provide the support, skills and knowledge necessary to reduce the painful impact of traumatic life events.
- ♥ We can connect individuals and families to vital community resources.
- ♥ Help families, children and teens cope with the impact of COVID-19.
